A GRAND RALLY.

The Nationals are making a grand rally for the lead in the Eastern Association, and it looks as though they would attain their object. They are now only four games behind the Richmond, and there is every reason to expect that they will win again to-day. With only three games to tie and six to play on their home grounds, it is pretty certain that they will lead in the race before a week is passed. The games here the last of this week and the first of next week will be intensely exciting, and it is fortunate for home baseball fans that the turning point will be reached while the club is at home. The nine, as now constituted, is a hard one to beat, and the fall games with the American Association nines will be fully as interesting as the spring ones were.

By the fine manner in which he pitched yesterday, added new laurels. His record in Pittsburgh was excellent. He has all the curves, is cool and ready to take advantage of any weak point in a batter, and has faced all the hard hitters in the country. His pitching yesterday evening, as did that of the man who has faced the Virginias this year. Cook caught him without an error. Powell's batting, as on the first day, contributed a good deal to the success of the team.

There is so much interest in the game played yesterday, that the Nationals and the Richmond, that the score by innings will be received at Mr. Scanlon's.

Scores of games played yesterday are as follows: Providence-Philadelphia, 5 to 1; Boston-New York, 8 to 4; Chicago-Baltimore, 12 to 2; Brooklyn-Metropolitan, 4 to 1; Athletic-Baltimore, 4 to 4; St. Louis-Pittsburgh, 3 to 1; National-Richmond, 7 to 0; Trenton-Newark, 4 to 4.

It is doubtful if it was wise in the New York papers to accuse the other league clubs of trying to help Chicago win the pennant. The charges cannot be substantiated and it makes the other clubs all the more anxious to defeat New York for his success.

Horse Tips.

For the first race at Brighton to-day either Jockey or Lizzie; second race, Tony Foster or Prosper; third race, Taggart or Arsenic; fourth race, Tattler or Executor; fifth race, Bruton; sixth race, Talleyrand or Ecuador.

The head victory of Ban Fox in the Champion Stallion Sakes on Monday has caused much discussion as to whether the 2-year-olds is entitled to the championship, and the result is the arrangement of a special sweepstakes for 2-year-olds, to be run on Saturday, August 22, at Monmouth Park. It is a special sweepstakes, and is won by the subscribers at the time of closing of $1,000 each, with $1,000 added, the second to save stakes. The stakes to close and name on August 15. Yesterday there were six subscribers for the race—Clinton and Morgan, B. A. Haggin, N. W. Kittson, George W. Burch, the entries already made insure a grand contest for the close of the season at Monmouth Park.

There were no great surprises in the race yesterday, save that Jimmy McLaughlin on East Lynne nearly carried the valuable West End Hotel Stakes from Feakes on Wanda. Brookwood won his race in good style, and is about it. The only thing that surprised people yesterday was the fact that Michael Moran ran a mile in 1:43. The Dwyers have thought Buffalo a better colt than Inspector B.; they must now be convinced to the contrary. Jimmy Roe's light weighted Error took the fifth race.

Lemp's Celebrated Beer.

The reputation of Lemp's St. Louis beer is so widely established that its introduction to general use at the National Capital is a matter of no difficulty, especially in the hands of so energetic and enterprising an agent as Mr. Chris. Abner. For many years past Lemp's beer has not only occupied a foremost place among consumers at home, but has been largely exported to Mexico, the West Indies and other foreign countries. The lovers of mal beverages pronounce it excellent beyond comparison in all the qualities of a pure and wholesome beer, unsurpassed as a tonic, and retaining its superior flavor in any climate. The breweries are among the most extensive in the world, and the greatest care is taken to keep the product up to the highest and best standard.

THE RIVER FRONT.

Major Peter C. Hains, in charge of the Potomac River and harbor improvement, has submitted his report of operations during July to the Chief of Engineers. Dredging continued in the Virginia channel, above Long Bridge. The gravel and stones encountered during June had seriously damaged the dredge, but during July the material dredged was almost exclusively sand. Work on the Washington channel progressed without serious interruption. The west side of the channel has been dredged for a width of 200 feet and a depth of 20 feet along the city wharf from the Long Bridge and the line of South N street. The remaining 150 feet of width next the wharves will be dredged during the fall and winter.

The third hydraulic dredge, much more powerful than either of the other two, is expected to be completed and ready to commence operations by September 1. The second contract with F. C. Somers for dredging an embankment along the Washington channel below Long Bridge has been completed and closed. The contract with F. Vanderveken for the improvement of the channel has also been closed. The channel from Giesboro Point to Georgetown is now 300 feet wide and 20 feet deep, and is to be further widened. The Washington channel below the bridge has been widened for a distance of about 4,000 feet. About four-fifths of the marshes have been raised above the ordinary high tide level. The dredging and other operations continue during August. Work continues on the removal of the crops off the upper end of Annapolis Island.

NEARING COMPLETION.

Fresco Painters to Begin Work on the National Theatre this Week.

The National Theatre, which was totally destroyed by fire last February, is rapidly approaching completion in accordance with plans made by McEliff of New York, who is now regarded as the leader in theatre architecture in the United States. The cost of the new structure, erected on the old site, will be about $120,000. The seating capacity of the old house is increased 200, so that over 1,800 sittings will be divided between the orchestra floor, balcony and gallery. The seats are arranged so that those on the sides nearest the proscenium boxes command a complete view of the stage, so that a person can be seen in the middle of the stage. This theatre has been destroyed by fire three times.

The plan of reconstruction now is to entirely cut out the stage from the auditorium by fireproof walls, iron doors and a curtain of asbestos. In addition, an engine is added to the fixtures of the house, which will throw a stream of 150 feet of water on the interior so far as the fireproof walls are concerned, to be to begin this week to ornament the ceiling. The gallery and balcony are ready for the chairs. The front of the theatre is entirely changed from the old plan. It will be five stories high and the length increased twenty feet by arching the alley and covering the adjoining site, also owned by Mr. Rapley, the proprietor of the theatre. The arch of the stage is fifteen feet higher than before, and the scene painters are already completely several of the set pieces.

The first Monday in October is the time fixed for the reopening, but the building will be ready long before that. Mene, Rhea is to appear on that night. The new National Theatre, which opened last fall, will give theatre-goers in Washington better facilities than they have ever had before, in keeping, too, with the increase of population patronizing the opera and theatre.

Nardello's Other Murder.

Antonio Nardello, alias Rosso, the Italian who murdered Carmine Rotundo recently in this city, has been conclusively connected with a second murder, by a late City Gazette article. A few days ago, the police received information that he was suspected of murdering Antonio De Baldo in Northwest, Cecil County, Md. He was seen in company with the man on the night of November 19, 1884. De Baldo's dead body was found in a snow-drift several months later. De Baldo had been murdered and robbed of his money and watch. Detectives Raff and Block got this information from an Italian in the city, who said he had seen Nardello with the man who had murdered De Baldo. There is also a photograph of the murderer sent to Northwest for identification as the man seen with De Baldo the day he was murdered. He received reply that the photograph represents the party with De Baldo. The Regular Saturday Night Excursion to Atlantic City and Cape May by the Pennsylvania Railroad.

Was not run on August 8th on account of the great rush to New York, but on Saturday, August 9th, the excursion will be resumed. On that night the Washington Light Infantry will also leave for their encampment at Cape May. Excursion tickets will be sold as heretofore at $2 for the round trip. This affords a fine opportunity to visit these popular resorts, and those who would embrace the occasion are advised to secure their tickets early, as the demand on the former trips exceeded the supply. Special Eastlake coaches for 1885 leave for Baltimore and Potomac Railroad Station at 10 p. m.; returning, leaves Cape May 5 p. m., Atlantic City 5:30 p. m.

Any desired information will be cheerfully furnished by Robert A. Parke, Passenger Agent, Southeastern District, whose office is at the station. The five-dollar excursion to Cape May and Atlantic City will leave next Friday at 11 a. m. as usual.

THE VIRGINIA CONTEST.

What General Lee Has to Say of Mr. Wise and the Campaign.

General Fitzhugh Lee, Mayor Smith of Richmond, Major Goodie of the army and several other Southern gentlemen were in conversation in a parlor of the St. James Hotel when a New York Times reporter was introduced to General Lee.

"Have you read an interview reported by the Atlanta Constitution, in which your opponent speaks rather severely of the Democratic party of Virginia, yourself and the platform?" he was asked.

"Yes," was the reply. "I have noticed Wise has been talking at Atlanta, and the substance, or may be all that he said, sent to New York. It used to be that when Mahone and his crowd wanted to talk to the outside public about Democrats they did so through the Washington Republican, and later they found a willing spirit in the uncharitable columns of the New York Tribune. I see that Wise declares himself pleased with my nomination. That phrase was cut and dried before the nominating convention, and would have been applied to the nominee, whoever he chanced to be. I expected his pretense of being pleased, and I now anticipate his disapprobation when I shall have been elected."

"Mr. Wise claims that he will receive 120,000 colored votes out of a total of 128,000, and from 50,000 to 60,000 white votes."

"Yes," and by the assertion in the world with characteristic folly that he expects to be elected by the negroes. His figures are ridiculous. Why, when Wise ran for Congress from the 8th at large he received only 18 votes less than 100,000, and the vote of Cameron for Governor was only 113,473. Since then matters have changed considerably. Last November the old, new white Republican party, and the negroes gave Blaine 139,414 I believe. Now, the Presidential election invariably brings out a far larger colored vote than our State elections do, and, moreover, the re are many old Republicans who will not support Wise."

"Will you meet Mr. Wise on the stump?"

"The campaign will be conducted under the direction of the Democratic State Committee. It has not been customary of late years to have joint discussions, presumably because feeling has run high and in some instances bloodshed has followed. This Democratic desire to avoid the committee will, I think, not agree to joint discussions for the reason I have given, and possibly, also, because the vast majority of the opposition party is made up of persons whose votes cannot be affected by speeches."

OHIO POLITICS.

Colonel Hill says that the Democrats are not enthusiastic.

Colonel like Hill of Ohio says that he is not very enthusiastic about Democratic prospects in Ohio. He said last evening that but little if any enthusiasm existed among the rank and file of the party here.

"That appointment of Noyes, followed by the selection of Harrison, and upon his declining making one of the most bitter Blaine Republicans a Government director of the Union Pacific Railroad, has broken us all up. Horribly has done a good deal to our loss, too. We are not by any means in good trim."

"But could you not get up barbecues, picnics and other meetings and thus entice the boys?"

"Not much. If there was a peanut cart out there with a man yelling what he had for sale and the most eloquent Democratic speakers in the party, such as Vest and Voorhees, conducting a meeting within fifty yards, the boys would get up a good deal of interest, and surround the peanut seller."

Two Anti-Monopolists.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 12.—The Daily News publishes the following, which may interest the voters of the Anti-Monopoly Party: "Ex-Secretary of the Navy George M. Robeson and the Hon. Benjamin F. Butler are among the names of a few company which was incorporated this morning in the county clerk's office in Camden. The name of the company is the Union Land and Grazing Company, and has a paid-up capital of $250,000, and owns about 400,000 acres of grazing land in the most fertile regions of New Mexico and Colorado. The objects for which they are incorporated are thus stated: 'To raise and sell cattle, build dams and canals, to irrigate their lands,' &c.

MAYSVILLE, KY., Aug. 12.—Jeff Phillips, colored, was shot and killed yesterday afternoon by Charles Boughner, deputy marshal of Chester, a suburb of the place. The shooting occurred on the river shore in Chester. Boughner was trying to arrest Phillips and two other negroes for some trifling offense. They resisted and beat him over the head with pistols and drove him away. He then armed himself and overtook them. Two of them submitted, but Phillips shot at Boughner, whereupon the marshal fired upon him.

Some Fishermen Saw It.

BOSTON, Aug. 12.—A sea serpent sixty feet long was seen yesterday inside Boston harbor. Its immense head, first appeared and the long snake-like body then rose and lay along the surface not many hundred feet from a pilot-boat just coming in from a cruise on the coast. The captain of the boat vouches for the truth of the story and some fishermen also saw it.

At Washington Grove.

The Sunday-school assembly at Washington Grove yesterday was largely attended by visitors from this city. The services were opened by song at 10:15 a. m., and was followed by an essay on "The teachers in the class," which was delivered by Rev. W. E. Griffith, D. D., of the New York avenue Presbyterian Church of this city. A paper on "Primary methods in juvenile classes" was read by Mr. Frank Hamilton. In the afternoon interesting papers were read by Miss C. A. Pursell and Miss Lucy H. Upton. At 3 o'clock a session was held on an interesting and instructive programme rendered. The evening session was closed by verses.
